

May 9, 2014

The rain yesterday was great. We need several more just like it. Unfortunately, it has impacted the Annual Coyote Squadron's Airshow scheduled for this Saturday, May 10, 2014. The Squadron hosts the air show each year and uses the open field at the airport to park cars.

The rain has caused the parking plan to change this year. Attendees are asked to park on the service road under the US 287 railroad bridge in front of Morgan Corporation, or go to the Mildred School parking lot. Visitors will be transported from their car directly to the visitor area on the airport ramp by buses provided by Corsicana ISD. The buses will circulate all day between the parking areas and the airport ramp, so when visitors are ready to leave the air show, they only need to get on a bus to return to their car. The Coyote Squadron is very grateful to the Mildred ISD for lending the parking lots and to the Corsicana ISD for the transportation.

The show will go on and I hope to see everyone there!
